It is every woman's dream to get married in the most grand, spectacular, and romantic way possible. Although most men give it a lot of thought as well, it is usually women who go into the most minute details such as the cut of the gown, the attire of the entourage, and the principal sponsors. But anyone who underestimates the power of music when it comes to inspiring lovers to bask in newly found conjugal bliss has surely never been in love. Truly music is something that completes every wedding walk down the aisle!

And here are some of the most amazing songs that women of all ages have dreamed of walking down the aisle to. Some of them speak of the irrepressible power of love or how love has brought them through the toughest of times to where they are now. Consider the following songs when searching for that ultimate complement for your special day:

- Endless Love: Sometimes the best way to express it is to say it straight. This song by Lionel Ritchie and Diana Ross has inspired countless couples to get all mush-mushy and have dreams of growing old together since it was released. In addition to being a perfect wedding song it isn't a bad song to curl up by the fireplace to as well!
- I Was Born To Love You: If you feel the hands of destiny conspiring in your love life's favor, then this song by Eric Carmen is the perfect one for you! Some may call it mushy but none can deny the power of this song to send knots to our stomachs and view of love through the lens of eternity. A complete wedding classic.
- From this Moment On: If you feel that you have found your soul mate and that you pledge your entire life to this partner of your choice then Shania Twain's hit single will have your heart in loop de loops. It is a song of total submission that every husband would love to hear his wife dedicate to him. So make this your song!
